KORPUS SHELF

Designed for HAY by Norwegian product designer Andreas Bergsaker, Korpus Shelf reflects the designer's ongoing desire to create durable everyday objects with a sustainable profile. Crafted from stamped and punched sheet aluminium, this series of multipurpose shelves combines a solid presence with organic, rounded curves, offering a functional and aesthetic storage solution. The integrated hooks and variety of size and colour options mean these versatile shelves can be used in many different rooms in the home.

ANDREAS BERGSAKER

Andreas Bergsaker (b. 1990) is a Norwegian product designer based in Copenhagen, Denmark. He graduated with a master degree in Product Design from Oslo and Akershus University College of Applied Sciences (HiOA) in 2015.

Andreas Bergsaker

His work covers different everyday objects, designed for product longevity and generations to come. His designs are rooted in exploration of material and shape, and referencing cultural heritage with emphasis on traditional craftsmanship, industrial production processes and tactile qualities. His work has led to exhibitions in London, Milan, New York, Oslo and Stockholm.

Depending on the size of the Korpus Shelf, the column conceal one, four or seven hooks to provide additional hanging possibilities.

Available in a wide range of sizes and colours.

Korpus Shelf reflects the designer's ongoing desire to create durable everyday objects with a sustainable profile.

The aluminium undergoes an industrial stamping and punching process to be formed into the distinctively curved column and top.
